Dept. Of Public Health Dentistry CLINICAL SKILL PROGRAMME

Date: 13/1/17

Topic: Atraumatic Restorative Technique

Target population: Final Year Students

Resource person: Dr. Bharateesh. J. V

Dr. Mythri. H

Dr. Darshana. B

Detail:

The students are explained the importance of Atraumatic Restorative Technique (ART) and is made to do the procedure under supervision of the resource person.

(ART) is based on the minimal intervention dentistry approach that provides several benefits:

- ✓ Avoid aerosol generation
- ✓ Save the tooth
- ✓ Reduce the chance of odontogenic infection
- ✓ Manage pain

Procedure:

1. Ensure the patient understands the treatment to be carried out, has consented and knows what steps are involved. Advice to patients include:
 - Cleaning the tooth will sound “scratchy” or “picky” during the procedures.
 - The patient is advised not to eat for the first hour after the treatment is finished.
2. Inspect the cavitated tooth
 - Make sure the tooth is clean and dry either directly or indirectly using a dental mirror.
 - Any plaque or food debris within the cavity is gently removed using a toothbrush or wet cotton pellet.
3. Isolation (avoiding moisture on the tooth)
 - The tooth to be restored (filled with a restorative material) is isolated with cotton wool to keep it dry.
 - Other methods, such as a “Dry Guard” and saliva ejectors can also be used to keep the tooth dry.

Email: ssdtumkur@gmail.com

4. Cavity access and initial preparation
 - If the cavity is too small to be able to clean and place a filling, then the entrance is widened by placing the dental hatchet into the cavity. The instrument is turned around one direction and then backwards, like turning a key in a lock.
 - Soft, decayed tissue is removed by using a spoon excavator with circular scooping movements, avoiding pressure (the spoon excavator must be sharp to also remove unsupported enamel – the hardest part of the tooth).
5. Peripheral margin modification
 - Any remaining thin demineralised and unsupported overhanging enamel is removed with sharp spoon excavators or dental hatchets
6. Cleaning and conditioning the prepared cavity
 - The cavity and the occlusal surfaces, including the pits and fissures, are cleaned with wet cotton pellets.
 - Dentine conditioner (polyacrylic acid) is applied to the entire cavity and adjacent fissures to promote a better bond between the GIC filling and the tooth using a disposable dental micro brush or cotton pellet, rubbing it against the dental tissues for 15 seconds.
 - The cavity is washed immediately with wet cotton pellets and dried with dry cotton pellets.
7. Mixing and restoring the cavity with HVGIC
 - The dental nurse/assistant mixes the HVGIC (encapsulated or powder/liquid) and the operating clinician slightly overfills the cavity with the material, also placing it in the remaining pits and fissures.
 - The clinician places their gloved finger with slight pressure over the filling surface (this allows the material to accommodate better to the cavity shape) for a full 2 minutes until the material has set (press-finger technique).^[17]

CLINICAL SKILL PROGRAM

Date:04/11/2017

Topic: Demonstration of placement of mini implants in skull

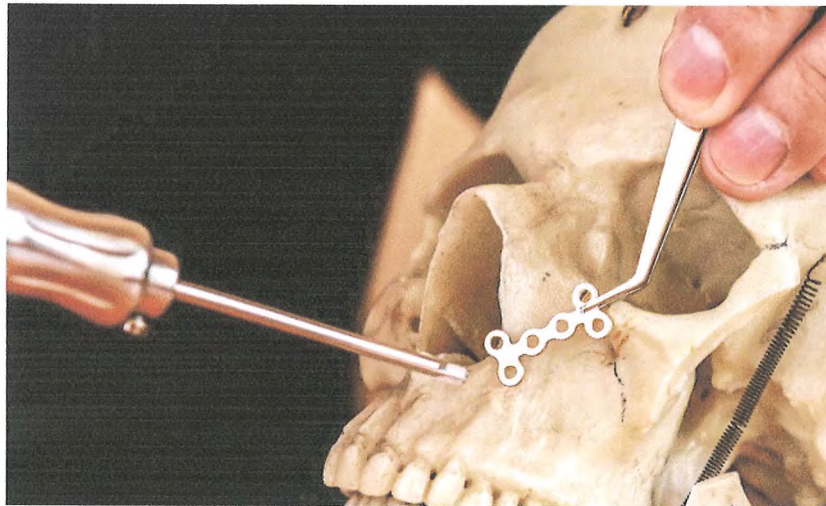

Target population

Participants: Group of Post Graduate students

Resource person: Dr. Prasanna T R, Reader

Details: Clinical skill program was conducted among 6 PG students by Dr. Prasanna T R. It was conducted on 04/11/2017 on the demonstration of placement of mini implants in skull.

Mini implants are emerging as the preferred anchorage appliances in Orthodontics. It is very important to identify the safe zones for the placement of mini implants. Demonstration of safe zones for the placement of mini implants has helped the post graduate students to prepare the anchorage properly in a case.

DEPARTMENT OF ORAL AND MAXILLOFACIAL SURGERY CLINICAL SKILLS PROGRAMMEE

Title: Use of B Class Autoclave

Date: 23/11/17

Objective:

1. To provide the participants basic knowledge on the use of wiring techniques
2. To train and educate the participants on the knowledge of wiring techniques and IMF in facial trauma management

Significance:

Infection control is important to prevent disease spread from person to person and also treatment of patients with utmost care and priority. A Class B Steriliser is a high level steam steriliser that uses a vacuum pump to remove air/steam mixtures from the chamber prior to sterilisation cycle beginning. Steam sterilisation is an essential step for reusable dental instruments as it favours the sterilisation in the most effective and efficient manner.

Course Content:

1. Introduction to Sterilisation.
2. Types of Autoclave
3. Indications and uses of B class Autoclave
4. Live demonstration on model.

Method of Content Delivery:

1. One – hour lecture class using power point was conducted about B Class Autoclave
2. Followed by live demonstration.

Teaching Aid:

1. Power point presentation for lecture class
2. Autoclave

Audience:

Undergraduates and postgraduates who were willing to participate were included.

Resource person:

Dr. Ramya R, Senior lecturer of Department of Oral and MaxilloFacial Surgery gave lecture and demonstration on model.

Description:

One hour lecture class was given by the resource person.

Students were encouraged to participate the class and clear doubts.

A live demonstration was given by the resource person on B class Autoclave.

Conclusions: It was aimed at a small group of students to make them well adapted to B Class Autoclave for sterilisation

Title: Attire Techniques

Date: 07/06/17

Objective:

1. To provide the participants basic knowledge on the use of attires in Oral surgery
2. To train and educate the participants on the knowledge and importance of attire techniques.

Significance:

Surgical attire provides a barrier to microbes shed from skin and hair of healthcare workers, thereby protecting patients and promoting clean environment. They should never be worn from outside of hospital to the inside of operating room and should be changed upon entry to the OT. There are certain guidelines and procedures to be followed for surgical attires and following them aids in the benefit overall.

Course Content:

1. Introduction to Surgical attires.
2. Types and techniques of surgical attires
3. Indications and uses of surgical attire
4. Live demonstration of attire technique.

Method of Content Delivery:

1. One – hour lecture class using power point was conducted about surgical attire

CLINICAL SKILL PROGRAM

Date:01/03/2018

Topic: Demonstration of preparation of components of removable appliance.

Target population: Group of Under Graduate students

Resource person: Dr. Dr. Madhusudhan V, Reader

Details: Clinical skill program was conducted among 5 UG students by Dr. Madhusudhan V. It was conducted on 01/03/2018 on the demonstration of preparation of components of removable appliance.

The components of removable appliance includes, clasps, bows and springs. The knowledge of preparation of removable Orthodontic appliances is very important because simple malocclusion can be treated using removable appliance. Demonstration of wire component fabrication along with activation of active components of removable appliances helped the students to gain knowledge about the appliance and how to deliver in a patient for their clinical practice.

Dept. Of Public Health Dentistry CLINICAL SKILL PROGRAMME

Date:13/6/18

Topic:Atraumatic Restorative Technique

Target population:Final Year Students

Resource person:Dr.Bharateesh.J.V

Dr.Mythri.H

Dr.Darshana.B

Detail:

The students are explained the importance of Atraumatic Restorative Technique(ART) and is made to do the procedure under supervision of the resource person.

(ART) is based on the minimal intervention dentistry approach that provides several benefits:

- ✓ Avoid aerosol generation
- ✓ Save the tooth
- ✓ Reduce the chance of odontogenic infection
- ✓ Manage pain

Procedure:

1. Ensure the patient understands the treatment to be carried out, has consented and knows what steps are involved. Advice to patients include:
 - Cleaning the tooth will sound “scratchy” or “picky” during the procedures.
 - The patient is advised not to eat for the first hour after the treatment is finished.
2. Inspect the cavitated tooth
 - Make sure the tooth is clean and dry either directly or indirectly using a dental mirror.
 - Any plaque or food debris within the cavity is gently removed using a toothbrush or wet cotton pellet.
3. Isolation (avoiding moisture on the tooth)
 - The tooth to be restored (filled with a restorative material) is isolated with cotton wool to keep it dry.
 - Other methods, such as a “Dry Guard” and saliva ejectors can also be used to keep the tooth dry.

Email: ssdtumkur@gmail.com

4. Cavity access and initial preparation
 - If the cavity is too small to be able to clean and place a filling, then the entrance is widened by placing the dental hatchet into the cavity. The instrument is turned around one direction and then backwards, like turning a key in a lock.
 - Soft, decayed tissue is removed by using a spoon excavator with circular scooping movements, avoiding pressure (the spoon excavator must be sharp to also remove unsupported enamel – the hardest part of the tooth).
5. Peripheral margin modification
 - Any remaining thin demineralised and unsupported overhanging enamel is removed with sharp spoon excavators or dental hatchets
6. Cleaning and conditioning the prepared cavity
 - The cavity and the occlusal surfaces, including the pits and fissures, are cleaned with wet cotton pellets.
 - Dentine conditioner (polyacrylic acid) is applied to the entire cavity and adjacent fissures to promote a better bond between the GIC filling and the tooth using a disposable dental micro brush or cotton pellet, rubbing it against the dental tissues for 15 seconds.
 - The cavity is washed immediately with wet cotton pellets and dried with dry cotton pellets.
7. Mixing and restoring the cavity with HVGIC
 - The dental nurse/assistant mixes the HVGIC (encapsulated or powder/liquid) and the operating clinician slightly overfills the cavity with the material, also placing it in the remaining pits and fissures.
 - The clinician places their gloved finger with slight pressure over the filling surface (this allows the material to accommodate better to the cavity shape) for a full 2 minutes until the material has set (press-finger technique).^[17]

CLINICAL SKILL PROGRAM

Date:02/12/2018

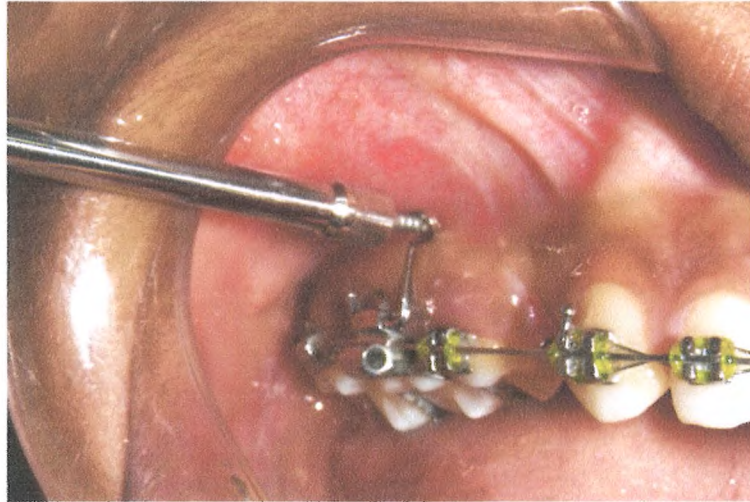

Topic: Placement of mini implants in patient for Orthodontic anchorage

Target population: Group of Post Graduate students

Resource person: Dr. Madhusudhan V, Reader

Details:Clinical skill program was conducted among 6PG students by Dr. Madhusudhan V. It was conducted on 02/12/2018 on the demonstration of placement of mini implants in patient for Orthodontic anchorage

Mini implants are used as stable anchorage units in Orthodontics. Success of mini implants on the placement of mini implants (angulation to the long axis of the tooth). Demonstration regarding the placement angulation was given to students to avoid the perforation of anatomical structures present in maxilla and mandible.

CLINICAL SKILL PROGRAMME

Date:30/10/18

Topic:Pit and Fissure sealant

Target population:Final Year Students

Resource person:Dr.Bharateesh.J.V

Dr.Mythri.H

Dr.Darshana.B

Detail:

The students were taught to apply Pit and fissure sealants on a patient under the supervision of the resource person. They were explained step by step application of Pit and Fissure sealants

Procedures for pit and fissure sealant placement may vary based on type of sealant and manufacturer. Referring to the manufacturer's instructions is recommended before proceeding.

Step One – Clean the Tooth Surface

The tooth surface must be thoroughly cleaned prior to the placement of the sealant. Cleaning can be accomplished using hydrogen peroxide, a toothbrush, a prophylaxis cup or brush, or a prophylaxis jet. Products containing fluoride and/or glycerin are contraindicated and should not be used to clean the tooth. After cleaning, the surface should be rinsed approximately 20 seconds. An explorer should then be used to examine the entire tooth surface for any remaining debris and previously undetected pathology. If debris remains, the tooth surface should be cleaned again. If pathology is detected, the decision to seal the tooth should be reevaluated.

Step Two – Isolate the Tooth Surface

Isolation is the most critical issue in the proper placement of resin based sealants. If the surface of the etched tooth is contaminated by saliva, the resin material will not adhere because the remineralization process begins as soon as saliva touches the etched surface. Sealant loss and immediate failure of retention are most often linked to moisture or salivary contamination. A rubber dam is the ideal method for tooth isolation for sealants, but it is not always possible or appropriate for young children. Cotton rolls, dry field pads, dry field kits, and single tooth isolation are all used with success.

Web: www.ssdctumkur.org

Email: ssdctumkur@gmail.com

Step Three – Etch the Tooth Surface

Etching the surface of the tooth, also called conditioning, is accomplished by using 38% phosphoric acid. The acid use in etching the tooth has the additional benefit of killing the bacteria in the pit and fissures. This acid is available in liquid and gel. If a gel is used, it is important to use a gel product that is specifically designed for pit and fissure sealants. Other gels may be too viscous and will not flow properly into the pits and fissures. The etching time is approximately 20 seconds for both primary and permanent teeth.

Step Four – Rinse and Dry the Tooth Surface

After etching for 20 seconds, the surface needs to be rinsed with water to remove the acid. Suction and air should be used to thoroughly dry the etched tooth surface. Again, it is extremely important to avoid salivary contamination. If the tooth surface is contaminated by saliva, it will be necessary to repeat the etching process.

Step Five – Apply the Bonding Agent/Primer (Optional)

Place a thin layer of bonding agent, gently thin bonding agent with air; cure according to manufacturer's instructions. This step is optional. Some manufacturers will recommend the use of a bonding agent to increase the retention of the sealant

Step Six – Apply the Sealant Material

It is important to be familiar with the particular sealant material being used.

Chemically cured sealant material includes two components that must be mixed just before placement. The curing process starts as soon as the materials are mixed and there is a limited amount of time when the material can be successfully placed in the pits and fissures. Light cured sealant material is placed as dispensed without any mixing. The curing process does not begin until it is exposed to the light source. Sealant material is placed on the prepared tooth using a syringe. Regardless of how it is delivered, it is important to limit the amount of material. The sealant material should be placed only in the pits and fissures. Too much material can result in occlusal interference. Over manipulation of the product may result in bubbles. Although occlusal interference is not a major concern, the amount of material should also be limited when sealing pits and fissures on lingual and buccal surfaces.

Web: www.ssdetumkur.org

Email: ssdetumkur@gmail.com

Step Seven – Curing the Sealant

After the light cured sealant material is applied and the operator is satisfied all surfaces are coated using the correct amount, the sealant should remain undisturbed for 10-20 seconds before applying the curing light. This delay allows the resin to flow into the etched surface. It takes about 30 seconds of concentrated visible light to set the light cure material. The tip of the curing light wand should be held approximately 3 to 5 mm from the surface of the sealant.

Step Eight - Evaluate the Sealant

Immediately after the material has cured the sealant should be evaluated for retention, flaws, and occlusion. Use an explorer to check for retention and flaws. If a sealant is going to fail, it most likely will do so immediately. If there are bubbles, voids, or any portion of the material comes out, more sealant material may be added. It will be necessary to re-isolate and etch before placing the material again. The occlusion of the sealant should be checked with articulating paper. If there is any indication of interference, the excess sealant material should be removed using a round finishing bur in a high or slow speed handpiece

Documentation

An appropriate entry should be made in the patient's record indicating the date, surfaces sealed, and type of material used. Depending on the circumstances the operator may want or need to provide other pertinent information

They also protect existing teeth by helping to preserve crown structure. Various Implants are available in the market and it is essential to know how to deal with each type for the efficiency of procedure.

Course Content:

1. Introduction to implants.
2. Armamentarium
3. Live demonstration of implant surgery on model.

Method of Content Delivery:

1. One – hour lecture class using power point was conducted about implant
2. Followed by live demonstration.

Teaching Aid:

1. Power point presentation for lecture class
2. Model.

Audience:

Undergraduates and Postgraduates who were willing to participate were included.

Resource person:

Dr. Ravi Kumar R, Reader of Department of Oral and MaxilloFacial Surgery gave lecture and demonstration on model.

Description:

One hour lecture class was given by the resource person.

Students were encouraged to participate the class and clear doubts.

A live demonstration was given by the resource person on Implant armamentarium

Conclusions: It was aimed at a small group of students to make them well adapted to Dental Implant.

Title: Use of Defibrillator

Date: 08/09/18

Objective:

1. To provide the participants basic knowledge on the use of defibrillator
2. To train and educate the participants on the knowledge of defibrillator

Significance:

Defibrillation is a life-threatening Cardiac Dysrhythmia and requires immediate medical aid to cope up with the body situation. A defibrillator device delivers a dose of electric current or a counter shock to the heart, which leads to depolarisation of the cardiac muscle thereby ending the dysrhythmia. It allows the body's natural pacemaker, the sinoatrial node of heart, to re-establish normal sinus rhythm.

Course Content:

1. Introduction to Life support systems.
2. Types of Life support available
3. Parts, uses and indications of Defibrillator
4. Live demonstration on model.

Method of Content Delivery:

1. One – hour lecture class using power point was conducted about defibrillator

CLINICAL SKILL PROGRAM

Date:23/04/2019

Topic: Demonstration of fabrication of activator

Target population: Group of 4 UG students

Resource person: Dr. Srinivasa H, Reader

Details: Clinical skill program was conducted among 4 UG students by Dr. Srinivasa H. It was conducted on 23/04/2019 on the demonstration of fabrication of activator.

Activator Appliance is a myofunctional appliance that was developed by Viggo Andresen in 1908. This was one of the first functional appliances that was developed to correct functional jaw in the early 1900s. Activator appliance became the universal appliance that was used widely throughout Europe in the earlier part of the 20th century. It is indicated for the correction of Class II malocclusion. It is indicated during growing period. Activator consists of acrylic components and wire components. The wire components of activator included a labial bow which was usually placed 1mm away from the front incisors and extended from canine to canine. The bow would be 0.9 - 0.8mm thick. Fabrication of wire bending and acrylization was demonstrated by Dr. Srinivas H to the students.

They also protect existing teeth by helping to preserve crown structure. Soft tissue management is essential for implant surgery to maintain aesthetics and function.

Course Content:

1. Introduction to implants.
2. Armamentarium
3. Live demonstration of implant surgery on model.

Method of Content Delivery:

1. One – hour lecture class using power point was conducted about soft tissue management in implant surgery
2. Followed by live demonstration.

Teaching Aid:

1. Power point presentation for lecture class
2. Model.

Audience:

Undergraduates and Postgraduates who were willing to participate were included.

Resource person:

Dr Marimallappa T R, Reader of Department of Oral and MaxilloFacial Surgery gave lecture and demonstration on model.

Description:

One hour lecture class was given by the resource person.

Students were encouraged to participate the class and clear doubts.

A live demonstration was given by the resource person on Implant surgery.

Conclusions: It was aimed at a small group of students to make them well aware of soft tissue management in Dental Implantology.

DEPARTMENT OF ORAL PATHOLOGY & MICROBIOLOGY

REPORT

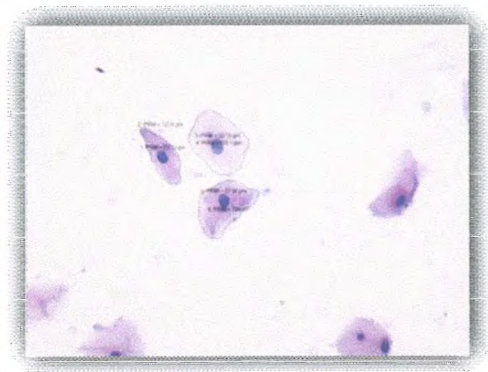

Department of oral pathology & microbiology is conducted Skill Development program on 17/12/19 at Oral pathology department from 10.am-1pm. Topic- Exfoliative cytology Investigations by Dr. Kokila G, Professor, Department of oral pathology & microbiology, Sri Siddhartha dental college & hospital, Tumkur.

Exfoliative cytology is the study of superficial cells which have been exfoliated or shed from mucous membrane, renal tubule etc. and also includes the study of those cells which have been scrapped or pulled off such surfaces.

Learning about exfoliative cytology will be of help in clinical practice in preparing smears for diagnosis of certain lesions. It will help the clinicians to understand application of exfoliative cytology.

A group of undergraduate students were taught on 17/12/19 about the theory and practical demonstration about technique for obtaining oral exfoliative cytology smears, fixation, staining and interpretation.

TOTAL 29 Students participated in the program

CLINICAL SKILL PROGRAM

Date: 13/11/2019

Topic: Demonstration of fabrication of fixed twin block

Target population: Group of Post Graduate students

Resource person: Dr. Madhusudhan V, Reader

Details: Clinical skill program was conducted among 6 PG students by Dr. Madhusudhan V. It was conducted on the demonstration of fabrication of fixed twin block.

Class II Div 1 malocclusion is the commonly encountered problem in the orthodontic practice. Twin block appliance designed by Clark in 1982 has gained worldwide acceptance for treating skeletal Class II malocclusion in growing age. The basic design of fixed twin block is consists of wire framework of 1mm S.S wire was adapted closely around premolars and erupted molars in the upper arch. Transpalatal wire of 1mm S.S was soldered to wire framework on both the sides to provide rigidity to the appliance. In the lower unit of twin block wire was adapted along the lingual surface of mandibular incisors and extended onto buccal and lingual aspect of first premolars. Blocks were made to be locked at 70° to the occlusal plane and lower blocks did not extend beyond distal marginal ridge of second premolars to allow for eruption of lower molars. This design was explained and demonstrated to post graduate students by Dr. Madhusudhan V.

Title: Physio dispenser

Date: 12/10/19

Objective:

1. To provide the participants basic knowledge on the use of Physio dispenser
2. To train and educate the participants on the knowledge of Physio dispenser in Oral surgery.

Significance:

The Physio dispenser or the dental Ultra-surgery device, is based on the principle of ultrasonic vibrations to precisely cut bone during surgery. The advantages it offers over conventional rotary is Micro-cutting, Selective cutting, Cavitation effect and reduced post operative trauma leading to faster healing. The device maintains a constant speed and torque for hassle-free surgery.

Course Content:

1. Introduction to Physio dispenser.
2. Types of Physio dispenser
3. Armamentarium
4. Techniques and applications of Physio dispenser in Oral surgery
5. Live demonstration of use of Physio dispenser on patient.

Method of Content Delivery:

1. One – hour lecture class using power point was conducted about Physio dispenser
2. Followed by live demonstration.

Teaching Aid:

1. Power point presentation for lecture class
2. Lasers on patients

Audience:

Undergraduates and postgraduates who were willing to participate were included.

Resource person:

Dr. Ravikumar R, Reader, Department of Oral and MaxilloFacial Surgery gave lecture and demonstration on patient.

Description:

One hour lecture class was given by the resource person.

Students were encouraged to participate the class and clear doubts.

A live demonstration was given by the resource person on Physio dispenser.

Conclusions: It was aimed at a small group of students to make them well aware of Physio dispenser.

CLINICAL SKILL PROGRAM

Date: 18/02/2020

Topic: Demonstration of placement of forsus appliance

Target population: Group of Post Graduate students

Resource person: Dr. Chethan Kumar. D, Sn Lecturer

Details: Clinical skill program was conducted among 6 PG students by Dr. Chethan Kumar D. It was conducted on 18/02/2020 on the demonstration placement of forsus appliance.

The Forsus Fatigue Resistant Device and Twin block are the most commonly used appliances for the correction of Class II skeletal malocclusion in patients who have not completed their growth. The Forsus appliance was introduced by William Vogt⁴. The Forsus Fatigue Resistant Device is a fixed and a hybrid functional appliance⁵. Forsus appliance is the most widely used rigid fixed functional appliance. The Forsus appliance consists of a rod and a spring module. The spring module is attached to the buccal tube of the upper first molar while the push rods are attached to the lower arch wire distal to the canine bracket. The appliance is available in 6 sizes based on length required. The push rods go inside the spring module for a short distance. The size of appliance must be selected such that when the appliance is in place, the mandible must close in a Skeletal Class I. Placement of appliance along with fixed mechanotherapy is a challenging procedure which was explained and demonstrated by Dr. Chethan Kumar to the post graduate students.

CLINICAL SKILLS PROGRAMMEE

Title: Transalveolar Extraction

Date: 09/04/20

Objective:

3. To provide the participants a basic knowledge about Exodontia
4. To train and educate the participants on the knowledge of Transalveolar extraction

Significance:

Dental extraction is a routinely carried out procedure in any dental set up. Despite the progress in fields of preventive and restorative dentistry, exodontia remains to be a vital procedure that cannot be overlooked. Removal of a tooth, root or prosthesis needs to be done skilfully and uneventfully. There are certain scenarios where an open method of extraction is needed in order to solve the patients' chief issue and it is the basic knowledge of dental students to have a basic knowledge regarding the same.

Course Content:

4. Introduction to Exodontia
5. Uses, indications of Transalveolar extraction
6. Principles and techniques of transalveolar extraction

Method of Content Delivery:

One – hour lecture class using power point was conducted to discuss about Transalveolar extraction followed by demonstration on patient.

Teaching Aid:

Power point presentation for lecture class
Extraction kit and minor surgical armamentarium

Audience:

Under graduates and Post graduates who were willing to participate were included.

Resource person:

Dr. Supriyo Pal, Senior Lecturer, Department of Oral and MaxilloFacial Surgery gave lecture followed by demonstration on patient.

Description:

One hour lecture class was given by the resource person.
Students were encouraged to participate the class and clear doubts.
The transalveolar extraction was performed on patient by the resource person.

Conclusions: It was aimed at a small group of students to make them well adapted to Transalveolar method of extraction

Title: Intermaxillary Fixation

Date: 23/12/20

Objective:

3. To provide the participants basic knowledge on the use of wiring techniques
4. To train and educate the participants on the knowledge of wiring techniques and IMF in facial trauma management

Significance:

The wiring techniques are regularly used in the management of facial and dento-alveolar fractures. The wiring technique has remained unchanged over the period of years and hence acts as an essential skill to be known by a dentist.

Course Content:

6. Introduction to wiring techniques.
7. Types of wiring techniques
8. Armamentarium
9. Techniques of wiring placement
10. Live demonstration of wiring on model.

Method of Content Delivery:

3. One – hour lecture class using power point was conducted about wiring
4. Followed by live demonstration.

Teaching Aid:

3. Power point presentation for lecture class
4. Model.

Audience:

Undergraduates and postgraduates who were willing to participate were included.

Resource person:

Dr. Marimallappa T. R, Reader of Department of Oral and MaxilloFacial Surgery gave lecture and demonstration on model.

Description:

One hour lecture class was given by the resource person.

Students were encouraged to participate the class and clear doubts.

A live demonstration was given by the resource person on wiring techniques and later hands-on was given to all the participants.

Conclusions: It was aimed at a small group of students to make them well adapted to Dental wiring for intermaxillary fixation.

CLINICAL SKILL PROGRAM

Date: 11/01/2021

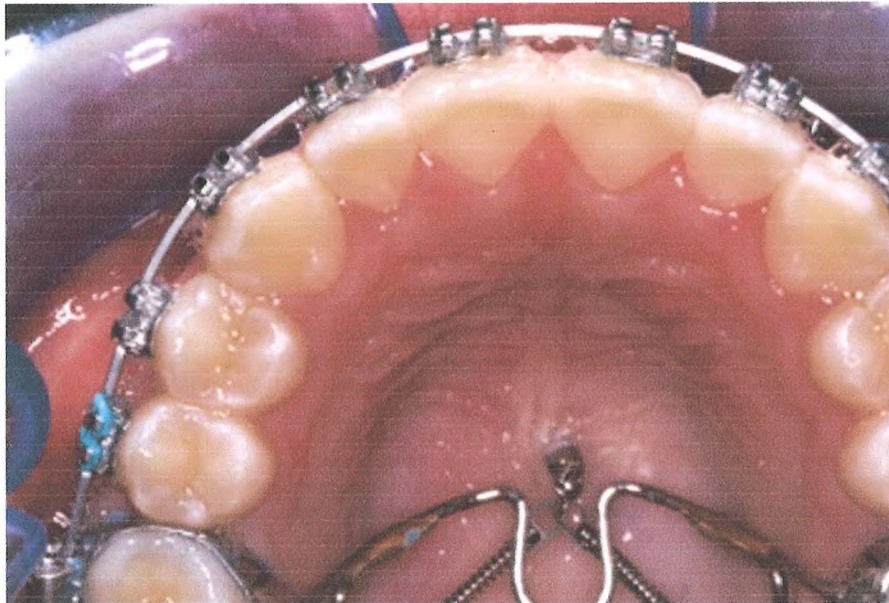

Topic: Demonstration of fabrication of anchorage device on palate

Target population: Group of Post Graduate students

Resource person: Dr. Manjula K T, Senior lecturer

Details: Clinical skill program was conducted among 6 PG students by Dr. Manjula K T. It was conducted on 11/01/2021 in patient models for fabrication of additional device on palate.

Anchorage plays a very important role when treating a malocclusion. Additional anchorage on palate is necessary when canine disimpaction is done to avoid ill effects on the adjacent tooth. With the demonstration of fabrication of anchorage device on palate, post graduate students got benefited with fabrication of anchorage devices.

AGE ESTIMATION BY CEMENTAL ANNULATIONS

DATE: 29/9/2021

TIME: 11.30am-1pm

Presenter name: Dr.Kokila.G

MODULE

INTRODUCTION: Estimation of age is an important aspect in determining a person's identity. Since teeth are resistant to decay and degradation, estimation of age using dental structures may be a valuable tool in human identification. Recent research suggests that tooth cemental annulation could be used as an effective method for age estimation than other morphologic or histological parameters. Cemental annulation by various microscopes improves accuracy in the prediction of age and also it allows for age estimation in cases where skeletal fragments are poorly preserved.

Method

Using a hard tissue microtome, longitudinal and transverse ground sections of 100 µm thickness of each tooth was prepared. Incremental lines of cementum from the prepared longitudinal and cross-sections were then studied using a light microscope, phase-contrast and polarized microscope. Photomicrographs were taken focusing on the cementum of the middle third region of the root using a digital camera OLYMPUS U-CMAD3 under ×10 magnification and were then transmitted from the research microscope (BX41) to a monitor. Each dark band along with the light band following it constituted one annulation. Teeth with indistinct, invisible cemental lines were eliminated. The mid-root section was chosen for counting the annulations for the following reasons: The thickness, width and cellularity of the cementum layers and also the number of resorption areas increase apically, complicating annulation counting. The thinness of the cementum near the tooth's neck prevents scoring. To reduce the influence of factors known to obscure annulations or cause cementum variation, such as periodontal disease and hypercementosis caused by local or systemic disease.

Cementum lines were counted manually by marking a point against each line observed and then counting the number of points marked in total per photomicrograph. For each alternating light and dark band of cementum annulations, a score of 1 was noted and the total number of incremental lines was counted.

Chronological age was estimated using the formula:

Estimated Age = Total number of cementum annulations + Age of eruption of that tooth

The number obtained was then compared with the known age of subjects. A similar procedure was followed using the polarizing microscope and phase-contrast microscope and the same comparative analysis was done.

INTRODUCTION:

Types of staining techniques
Sr. No.	Staining Technique	Preparation	Application	Result
1.	Simple (Monochrome)	Smear stain with single dye . e.g. Methylene blue, Safranin etc.	Used to highlight microbes and illustrate cellular shapes and arrangements .	Organisms are stained in the color of applied stain
2.	Negative (Relief)	Smear mixed with Nigrosin and spread into thin film	Study cell morphology	Organism is stained, the background is black
3	Gram	Primary stain: Crystal violet applied to film then treated with iodine (mordant), alcohol (decolourizer) and counter stained with safranin	Characterizes bacteria in one of two groups, Gram positive or Gram negative	Gram positive appears purple in color Grams negative appears pink in color
4	Acid fast (Ziehl-Neelsen technique)	Film stained with hot Z.N.C.F. decolourized (acid-alcohol) and counter stain	Separate non-decolorized acid fast bacteria that are not	Acid fast bacteria:Red

		with methylene blue	decolorized from colored non-acid fast bacteria	Non acid fast: Blue
5	Endospore (Dornor's method)	Primary stain Malachite green heat fixed to penetrate spores; vegetative cells are counterstained with Safranin	Detects the presence of endospores in six genera of bacteria	Endospores: Green Vegetative cells: Red
6	Capsule A: Hiss method (Positive technique) B: Maneval's technique (Negative)	Smear stained with Hiss stain following treatment with copper sulphate Bacterial suspension smeared along with Congo red and the Maneval's stain is applied	Capsules can be observed as clear zones surrounding cells of capsulated bacteria and are used to demonstrate the presence of capsules.	Capsule: Light violet/ pale mauve color Bacteria: Purple capsule, bacterial cell, Stands out against dark background
7	Cell wall (Dyar's method)	Smear treated with C.P.C. which dissociates to form positively charged cetyl pyridinium and negatively charged chloride ions. Positively charged ions are adsorbed on negatively charged cell wall	Stains cell wall of bacterium	Cell wall: Red Cytoplasm: Blue

CLINICAL SKILL PROGRAM

Date:18/12/2021

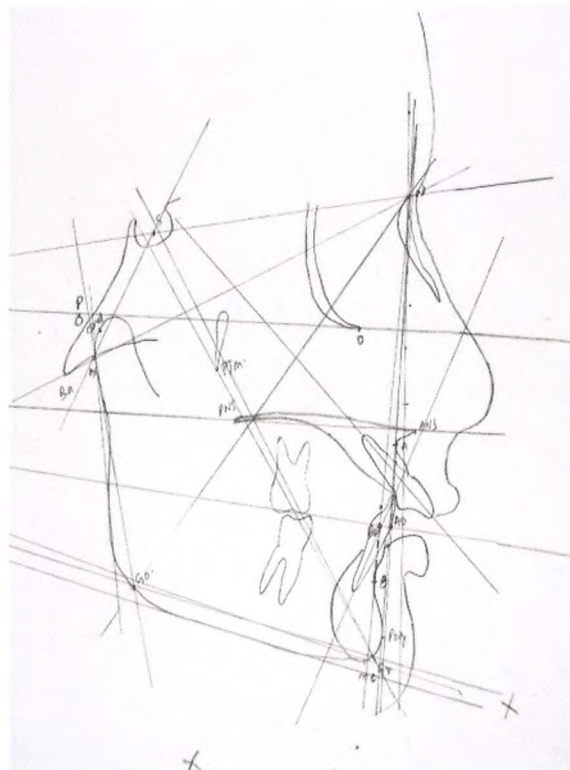

Topic: Demonstration of Down's cephalometric analysis

Target population: Group of Under Graduate students

Resource person: Dr. Madhusudhan V, Professor

Details:Clinical skill program was conducted among 4 PG students by Dr. Madhusudhan V. It was conducted on 18/12/2021 on cephalograms.

Down's cephalometric analysis was given early 1950s which divides a face into different types depending on the mandibular skeletal relation with the cranial base. With the demonstration of Down's analysis under graduate students got benefited with basic cephalometric analysis.

Title: Attire Techniques

Date: 13/07/21

Objective:

3. To provide the participants basic knowledge on the use of attires in Oral surgery
4. To train and educate the participants on the knowledge and importance of attire techniques.

Significance:

Surgical attire provides a barrier to microbes shed from skin and hair of healthcare workers, thereby protecting patients and promoting clean environment. They should never be worn from outside of hospital to the inside of operating room and should be changed upon entry to the OT. There are certain guidelines and procedures to be followed for surgical attires and following them aids in the benefit overall.

Course Content:

5. Introduction to Surgical attires.
6. Types and techniques of surgical attires
7. Indications and uses of surgical attire
8. Live demonstration of attire technique.

Method of Content Delivery:

3. One – hour lecture class using power point was conducted about surgical attire
4. Followed by live demonstration.

Teaching Aid:

3. Power point presentation for lecture class
4. Model.

Audience:

Undergraduates and postgraduates who were willing to participate were included.

Resource person:

Dr. ashok Kumar k. R, Professor and HOD of Department of Oral and MaxilloFacial Surgery gave lecture and demonstration on model.

Description:

One hour lecture class was given by the resource person.

Students were encouraged to participate the class and clear doubts.

A live demonstration was given by the resource person on attire techniques and later hands-on was given to all the participants.

Conclusions: It was aimed at a small group of students to make them well aware of Attire techniques.

DEPT OF PERIODONTICS

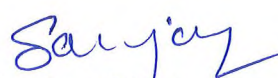

REPORT OF CLINICAL SKILL PROGRAMME (2021-22)

A clinical skill programme was held on basic life support training, on 22/7/2022, for the post graduate students. The programme involved around 2-3 post graduate students. The programme involved the training of post graduate for the basic life support, on mannequins, followed by the certification for the same.

The programme concluded with the post graduates acquiring the necessary basic life support skills.

ANALOG AND DIGITAL ELECTRONIC CIRCUITS LAB

Subject Code: 18CS3L02

Lab cycles	Description
I	1. To simulate the operation of i) Half wave and full wave rectifier ii) RC coupled CE amplifier and to plot the frequency response 2. To simulate i) Diode clipping and clamping circuit ii) Inverting and non-inverting amplifiers using Op-amp IC 741
II	3. To simulate the operations of i) Op-amp such as: integrator, differentiator ii) A-stable multi-vibrator using IC555 timer for the given Duty cycle 4. To simulate the working of i) ADC and DAC ii) To study the working of sensors such as: LDR and PIR
III	5. To Realize the given Boolean equation (4 variables) using minimum number of gates. i) Using basic gates ii) Using universal gates 6. To Implement 4-bit adder/subtractor using IC 7483. 7. Multiplexers & Demultiplexers To verify the truth tables of 8:1 MUX and 1:8 DEMUX using IC 74151 and IC74149 8. Adders & Subtractors To implement Full Adder and Full Subtractor using IC 74153 (MUX).
IV	9. To realize i) 1-bit comparator using logic gates. ii) 4 bit magnitude comparator using IC 7485. Decoders and Encoders. i) Display the digits from 0 to 9 using BCD-to-7 Segment ii) Decoder (IC 7447). ii) Implement Decimal-to-BCD Encoder using IC 74148. 10. Flip-Flops. i) Verify the truth tables of SR and D flip flops using NAND gates. ii) Verify the truth table of JK Master-Slave flip flop using IC 7476. 11. To Realize and study Ring and Johnson counters using IC 7495.
V	12. Design a 3-bit asynchronous up counter and down counter (ripple counter) using IC 7476 for the given modulus. 13. Design a 3-bit synchronous counter using IC 7476 for the given modulus. 14. i) Write the Verilog / VHDL code for full adder. Simulate and verify its working. ii) Write the Verilog / VHDL code for an 8:1 multiplexer. Simulate and verify its working. 15. i) Write the Verilog / VHDL code for D flip flop with positive-edge triggering. Simulate and verify its working. ii) Write the Verilog /VHDL code for mod-8 up counter. Simulate and verify its working.

COMPUTER NETWORKS LABORATORY

Subject Code: IS6L01

Simulation Exercises

PART A: The following experiments shall be conducted using either NS228/OPNET or any other simulators.

1. Simulate a three nodes point-to-point network with duplex links between them. Set the queue size vary the bandwidth and find the number of packets dropped.
2. Simulate a four node point-to-point network, and connect the links as follows: n0-n2, n1-n2 and n2-n3. Apply TCP agent between n0-n3 and UDP n1-n3. Apply relevant applications over TCP and UDP agents changing the parameter and determine the number of packets by TCP/UDP.
3. Simulate the different types of Internet traffic such as FTP a TELNET over a network and analyze the throughput.
4. Simulate the transmission of ping message over a network topology consisting of 6 nodes and find the number of packets dropped due to congestion.
5. Simulate an Ethernet LAN using N-nodes (6-10), change error rate and data rate and compare the throughput.
6. Simulate an Ethernet LAN using N nodes and set multiple traffic nodes and determine collision across different nodes.
7. Simulate an Ethernet LAN using N nodes and set multiple traffic nodes and plot congestion window for different source/destination.
8. Simulate simple ESS and with transmitting nodes in wire-less LAN by simulation and determine the performance with respect to transmission of packets.

PART B: The following experiments shall be conducted using C/C++.

1. Write a program for error detecting code using CRC-CCITT (16-bits).
2. Write a program for frame sorting technique used in buffers.
3. Write a program for distance vector algorithm to find suitable path for transmission.
4. Write a program for spanning tree algorithm (Kruskal's /Prim's) to find loop less path.
5. Using TCP/IP sockets, write a client-server program to make client sending the file name and the server to send back the contents of the requested file if present.
6. Implement the above program using as message queues or FIFOs as IPC channels.
7. Write a program for simple RSA algorithm to encrypt and decrypt the data.
8. Write a program for Hamming Code generation for error detection and correction.
9. Write a program for congestion control using Leaky bucket algorithm.

SRI SIDDHARTHA ACADEMY OF HIGHER EDUCATION (DEEMED TO BE UNIVERSITY)

Accredited 'A' Grade by NAAC

COMPUTER AIDED MACHINING LAB (Swan soft CNC machining simulation software)

Subject Code: IM5L02

Part-A

Writing and execution of manual part programming using ISO codes for machining of simple parts- turning, taper turning, form turning and thread cutting. Use of radius compensation, canned cycles, macros and etc.

Part- B

1. CNC milling- Writing and execution of part program for contour milling and etc.
2. Simulation of Cutting / Milling operations on a computer using CAM packages.

SIMULATION LAB (Arena simulation software)

Subject Code: IM6L02

1. Features of Simulation Packages and building simulation models for inventory, Layout, Line balancing, Scheduling and other such shop floor activities. 8 exercises
2. Building simulation models for service activities like banking transactions, Food world chains Material handling systems like conveyors and transporters. 4 exercises
3. Obtaining of probability distributions for given data using input analyzer. 1 exercise
4. Statistical analysis of simulation models 2 exercises
