Report: The CME on Infertility – World IVF Day, organized by the Department of Obstetrics & Gynaecology, Sri Siddhartha Medical College & Hospital in association with TSOG on 25 July 2026, was a highly successful academic event that brought together faculty, postgraduate residents, practicing obstetricians and gynaecologists, and delegates for an enriching exchange of knowledge in reproductive medicine. The inaugural ceremony was graced by distinguished dignitaries, including the Principal, Dr. M. B. Sanikop, Medical Superintendent, Dr. Rajeshwari Devi, and TSOG President, Dr. Basavaraju, who emphasized the importance of continuing medical education, collaborative learning, research, and evidence-based practice in advancing infertility care. They appreciated the Department of Obstetrics & Gynaecology for organizing a timely and academically enriching CME that fostered professional networking and lifelong learning among healthcare professionals. The scientific programme featured expert lectures by Dr. Snehadharshini Karanth on Beyond the Clock: POI and the Infertility Challenge, Dr. Deepthi Venkatesh on Gut to Gametes: Unraveling the Microbiome–Fertility Axis, Dr. Punyashree R on Silent Saboteurs: How Endocrine Disruptors Affect Infertility, Dr. Nikitha Murthy on Inflamed Yet Invisible: Chronic Endometritis and Infertility, and Dr. Praveen N on The Polyendocrine Storm: Deconstructing the Metabolic Blueprint of PCOS. Each scientific session concluded with interactive discussions and question-and-answer sessions that promoted evidence-based learning and active delegate participation. A highly interactive and engaging panel discussion, "Case Chronicles: Decoding Challenging Cases," expertly moderated by Dr. Shylaja M. N. and Dr. Ranjitha

M., emerged as one of the highlights of the CME, encouraging vibrant audience participation and practical discussions on complex infertility cases, recurrent implantation failure, ovarian reserve assessment, PCOS, and assisted reproductive technologies. The event concluded with a felicitation ceremony honouring the speakers, moderators, chairpersons, and panelists for their invaluable contributions, making the CME a memorable platform for academic excellence, interdisciplinary collaboration, and the dissemination of contemporary advances in reproductive medicine.
